ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

OF THE

TOWN OF CHELMSFORD,

FOR THE

YEAR ENDING FEB. 29, 1888.

LOWELL, MASS. :

VOX POPULI PRESS: 130 CENTRAL STREET.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE REPORT.

YOUR School Committee herewith respectfully submit their Annual Report for the year 1887-8. The term of service of S. J. Garland, J. H. Hazen, and George F. Lock having expired, the following were elected their successors at the March election: F. C. Byam, Riley Davis, and F. A. Furlong; subsequently Mr. Furlong resigned from the board, he having moved from Chelmsford to Lowell; and at a special joint meeting of the Board of Selectmen and School Board, called at the request of R. S. Ripley and other members of the board, Mr. Robert Fletcher was elected to fill the place made vacant for such time, or until his successor shall be elected at the regular Town Meeting at this coming March election.

As re-organized, the board made choice of R. S. Ripley chairman, and Rev. N. C. Saunders secretary. The board then proceeded to the election of Superintendent of Schools, and George F. Snow was unanimously elected, and it goes without saying that he has given the most perfect satisfaction, not only to your School Board, but to the teachers and scholars of all the schools. He is justly fitted for the manifold duties incumbent upon a Superintendent; for while he is knowing to the wants and requirements of the schools, he has the ability, tact, and determination to carry out the same for the best interests of all concerned. You will find his report herewith appended in all its completeness.

Your Committee have reason to feel satisfied that the school work as a whole, for the past year, has in no way deteriorated from their previous good work, but has rather advanced a step forward in the march of improvement, as called for by all interested in our public schools, and in the education of our children. We are endeavoring to please all by —

First. Making our schools so good that all scholars will love to come, and parents will insist on sending them.

Second. By procuring the best Superintendent and teachers for our schools, and by proper treatment and good salaries, keeping them with us.

Third. By teaching more the English branches, in order that the majority of our children may receive an education more in keeping for the general and active duties of life, leaving the sciences for those who desire a profession as a means of livelihood.

Fourth. To fully carry out the provisions of the law relating to the employment of minors under fourteen years of age, or over fourteen years who can neither read nor write the English language, in order that they may become, by education, honored and respected citizens, rather than a disgrace and burden on our commonwealth, by reason of ignorance.

Many new ideas and suggestions are continually being advanced, to further the efficiency of our common schools, and your Committee are honestly and conscientiously trying, each in his several district, to carry out such work as will best meet the pleasure and approbation of all citizens, whose servants we are. While your Committee have tried to keep the school expenditures within the appropriation, the past year, they know they have exceeded it somewhat slightly by reason of the increase of salary which they thought necessary to many of the lady teachers, it seeming to us proper to comply with a general demand from all over the State that this be done, in order that we may keep with us those to whom we may safely entrust the moral and physical, as well as the mental, welfare of our children. We believe the compensation none too high now, for we demand now a higher qualification as teachers than in the past, and must of necessity pay for it. Your Committee find it difficult to procure suitable masters or principals for their high schools, many declining to come on account of the meager salary, and those who do come only do so until such time as they may receive better positions. Now, as we have two high schools in Chelmsford, we feel as though a larger school fund would be necessary if we may have and keep the best teachers for these schools. We would therefore most respectfully ask the voters of Chelmsford to see the wisdom of our request, and see to it that we get such sums as shall permit us to carry out the school work as shall do honor to all, and that shall compare favorably with other schools in the State.

Your Committee also recommend the extending of the school term from thirty-four (34) weeks to forty (40) weeks. Most of the larger towns, and all cities, have the longer term, and there seems no just reason why we may not. We find, by inquiry among many parents,—in fact, almost without exception, outside the farming districts,—it to be the desire of all to so lengthen the school year. Can this be done in the near future, we shall have accomplished much good and a much-needed reform, at a little extra expense.

We also desire to bring to the attention of the voters of Chelmsford the much-needed improvement in the manner of heating our school-rooms, especially in the larger schools. As now, we have the old box stoves, which have been in vogue for many years in all the schools, except the school at Chelmsford Center. We do not need to enter into a discussion of the many reasons why the present method should be done away with, and new systems substituted, such as furnaces, or what is much more valuable, steam heat, because you are well aware of the many disadvantages which accompany the first, as compared with the many advantages of the last, way. As you value the health and comfort of your children above all money consideration, would it not be well to carefully look into this matter, and see that some change shall be made, tending to the better health and comfort of our children, and teachers as well?

There are many things which your Committee would like to speak of, but time and a desire not to tax your patience forbid.

We can not close our report without extending to Mr. George F. Patridge, a former principal of the high school at North Chelmsford, our most grateful thanks for his very valuable gift to the above school of a set of three (3) volumes of "The People's Cyclopædia." They are now being constantly used by the teachers and scholars, and found to be one of the most valuable acquisitions to our schools.

Your Committee find that the position and duties on the School Board are no sinecure, but rather thankless ones, and often criticised and blamed for any and all real or imaginary shortcomings that may occur in the school work; and coming, as it does, from those whose only interests are governed by its increased expenses, leads us to ask, Do you wonder it is hard to find capable and willing men to serve you under such circumstances?

Yet, there are many pleasant things connected with the duties of your Committee, which give them courage to go on doing their work as they, in their judgment, think best, bearing in mind at all times that they are but carrying out the desires and wishes of the tax-payers of Chelmsford.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

Gentlemen of the School Committee:

It is a pleasure to report a steady and substantial growth in the educational affairs of this town, rather than any decided innovations.

During the past year I have made one hundred and eighty official visits. These visits were made without notice to any one, so that I found the schools in their ordinary working condition. Allowing the teacher to proceed with the regular order of work, I was thus enabled to judge of the teacher's ability to instruct and the quality of work done. During or at the close of these visits I asked such questions and made such suggestions as, in my judgment, seemed called for. The good spirit in which all suggestions have been received, and the willingness to comply with the same, have pleasantly impressed me with their desire to heartily cooperate with all school authorities in measures tending to improvement.

Our schools have taken no step backward; and while there is certainly room for improvement in some, the majority are in the most flourishing and healthy condition, and good results are flowing from the efforts of the teachers employed in them, — results gratifying alike to teachers, Superintendent, and patrons.

CHANGE OF TEACHERS.

Fortunately for the town, but few changes have occurred in our corps of teachers during the year. Teachers should be engaged, not for a single term or a single year, but during satisfactory service, or until attacked by the all too fatal malady — matrimony.

CAREFUL PREPARATION.

Our teachers are endeavoring to better prepare themselves, both in matter and method, for teaching the various subjects required in the schools. Educational papers are taken by all of them, and have a tendency to arouse discussion as to the best manner of presenting different subjects, and often suggest valuable ideas. Most teachers realize that it is as essential for them to read educational works as for the physician or lawyer to read books devoted to their professions.

SCHOOL-BUILDINGS.

Our school-buildings are generally in good condition, but their surroundings ought to be made more attractive. Public sentiment in each district should be turned in this direction. The teachers can do much toward arousing such a sentiment by inducing pupils to interest themselves in improving the school-room and grounds. I have gone from a school-room, with bare and cheerless walls, to one in which the teacher and pupils had placed plants and fragrant flowers in the windows, and decorated the walls with paper and pictures, and the contrast has greatly impressed me. A different atmosphere seemed to pervade the latter school. Whatever work one does can be better done in the midst of pleasant surroundings, and this applies equally to the school-room, the workshop, and the office. Parents do not thoughtfully consider how many hours their children spend in and about the school-house, or they would take a greater interest in the improvement of buildings and grounds. The school-house and its patrons should be brought closer together. Let us applaud all efforts toward bringing about this much-desired result.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Since the introduction of Lippincott's series of readers (five in number), the interest in the reading lesson has greatly increased; the pupils have been more attentive, and there has been a decided improvement in tone, pronunciation, and fluency.

That still better work may be accomplished, I would recommend that new books be procured, in sets of eight or ten copies each, especially for Primary and Middle grades, and no two sets alike; exchanges between schools to be made each term, or as often as circumstances may require, the books when not actually in use being kept at the teacher's desk.

In this way the scholars would not become so familiar with their reading books as to be indifferent to the lesson long before the grade is passed. With fresh books, and intelligence and activity on the part of the teacher, pupils in the lower grades will certainly advance with greater rapidity, and the expense to the town would be no more.

ATTENDANCE.

It has been the experience of your Superintendent, and the united testimony of the teachers, that a great obstacle in the way of advancement in a majority of our schools is irregular attendance.

To what better place than the school-room can we send our children to acquire habits of punctuality, application, and obedience? A child untutored to habits of punctuality, who is habitually absent or late at school, will, when a man, be always missing his appointments.

If the wrong done was confined to the tardy or absent pupil, the right to complain would be less; but the injury is felt by the whole school. The frequent absentee, from whatever cause, is a dead weight upon his class; and when any considerable number are frequently absent, the whole school is retarded and lowered in rank.

It is hardly just to keep the constant and diligent pupil back to favor the indifferent; yet, in a graded, classified school, the frequently absent must either be made of no account, or else the faithful must be robbed of their just rights.

If it is the business of the child to acquire an education, it is manifestly his duty to be in his place of business;—duty to himself and to his class requires it.

As representatives of the town, and friends of education, let us heartily assist the teachers, who are so earnestly laboring to accomplish a reform in this direction.

In conformity with custom, a very brief synopsis of the year's work in each school is now given:—

NO. 1.—CENTER CHELMSFORD.

High School.—Mr. Chas. H. Bates, who had charge of this school during the year, is a gentleman of fine talent and a thoroughly practical teacher. He applied himself faithfully to his work, devoting his whole time and energy to the improvement of his pupils, and highly satisfactory progress was made under his tuition.

Grammar School. — This department, under the leadership of Miss Laura L. Butterfield, has given evidence of good discipline and general improvement in the various branches taught. The annual examination clearly showed that careful and thorough work had been done.

Primary School. — This, our largest Primary School, has been under the charge of Miss Nellie M. Perham during the year. This school requires no small amount of energy and perseverance. Miss Perham has both of these qualifications. The progress of her little pupils was in a high degree gratifying.

NO. 2.—NORTH ROW.

Miss Blanche E. Henshaw, teacher for the year. An experienced teacher, and one of our best. Her faithful efforts in this school during the year were crowned with a good measure of success.

NO. 3.—SOUTH CHELMSFORD.

Miss Gertrude W. Byam had charge of this school during the year. It has been one of our most cheerful and progressive schools, every thing being done in a prompt, wide-awake manner. The examination at the close of the year was eminently satisfactory.

NO. 4.—SOUTH ROW.

This school has been unfortunate — a different teacher each term: Miss Mary A. Parker in the spring, Miss Carrie L. Adams in the fall, and Miss Helen J. Gookin during the winter.

Miss Parker, though a teacher of long and successful experience, failed to secure the co-operation of parents and scholars, and consequently did not accomplish desired results.

Miss Adams entered upon her work with zeal, and soon gained the love and respect of her pupils. She was compelled, however, by a severe illness, to relinquish the work before the close of the term.

The result of the winter's work, under the instruction of Miss Gookin, has been satisfactory to the people of the district, as it certainly has been to your Superintendent.

No. 5.—BYAM'S NEIGHBORHOOD.

Miss Nellie Hadley, teacher for the year. This was her first attempt at teaching, and as such must be regarded as quite successful. She secured the love of her pupils, and thus led them easily and pleasantly and secured good improvement.

No. 6.—EAST CHELMSFORD.

Miss Susie S. McFarlin, who has successfully taught this school for several years, was continued during the present year; and, though the maliciousness of boys caused much unpleasantness for her and large expense to the town, she met all difficulties with determination, and accomplished better work than could have been expected under the circumstances.

No. 7.—SPAULDING'S NEIGHBORHOOD.

Teacher for the year, Miss Mary L. Keith. Miss Keith has had the experience of several terms, and the knowledge thus acquired was made available by herself and her pupils, to the credit and advantage of both.

No. 8.—NORTH CHELMSFORD.

High School.—Mr. W. F. Parsons, who so successfully taught the closing weeks of the winter term of 1886-7, continued during the spring term, giving universal satisfaction. A class of eight was graduated. The exercises, held at the Town Hall, showed thorough preparation, and were highly pleasing to the large audience present. To the regret of all, Mr. Parsons resigned at the close of the term, to resume his collegiate course.

Mr. W. A. Woodward, who taught during the fall and winter, labored under the disadvantage of a brief experience in teaching. He was faithful and conscientious, however, and those who chose to improve their opportunities made good progress.

Grammar School.—Miss Addie M. Taylor, who has so long and successfully instructed in this school, taught during the year. Experience has proved beyond doubt, that with this teacher in charge, success is a moral certainty, and that the school will be a model of its kind. It is sufficient to say that our anticipations have been fully realized.

Intermediate School.—This department was under the guidance of Miss Kate Sleeper, during the year. It is believed she gave general satisfaction to the parents and friends of the school. The examination at the close of the spring term was highly satisfactory to the many who witnessed it.

Primary School.—A good teacher for the year, Miss Laura G. Hoyt. Her former reputation as a teacher was fully sustained, and her valuable services gave universal satisfaction. The annual examination was largely attended, and gave proof that the combined labors of teacher and pupils had not been in vain.

NO. 9. — WEST CHELMSFORD.

Grammar School.—The services of Miss Carrie M. Robbins were secured in this school, where, during previous terms, she had won so much praise and esteem. There seemed to be entire harmony between the teacher and scholars, and the result was a pleasant and profitable term. A family affliction caused her resignation at the close of the spring term. Miss Robbins was succeeded by Miss Ada M. Sheldon, who brought to her work considerable experience as a teacher. The reputation of the school was fully sustained. The scholars were not allowed to make haste at the expense of thoroughness, but possessed, at the annual examination, at the close of the year, a good knowledge of all the ground gone over.

Primary School. — Miss Agnes Naylor, teacher for the year. Miss Naylor commenced her labors as a teacher in this school eight years ago, and the fact that she has been continuously employed since, shows the estimation placed upon her services by those best qualified to judge.

I can not close this report without acknowledging the interest manifested by the parents and friends of education. More than eight hundred visits have been made the several schools during the year. This interest I believe is not only unusual, but increasing, and can not but have exerted a good influence upon both teachers and scholars. Frequent visitation on the part of parents is of incalculable benefit. It encourages the teacher to more faithful effort, and stimulates the pupil to greater zeal in study. A deeper interest and sympathy in our school system are awakened, and a better understanding of its necessities acquired. It is impossible to judge correctly of the efficiency of the teacher or the proficiency of the scholar, without a familiar acquaintance with the school-room.

Our public schools are the hope of this country, the mental and moral culture of our youth its crown of glory and strength. Open wide, therefore, the gates of learning, remove every obstacle, but forget not that moral growth and a right understanding of the duties of good citizenship are of equal and even higher importance.

Thanking you, gentlemen, for your confidence and co-operation, the scholars and teachers for theirs, with the wish that I could have served them and the town generally more to their advantage, I respectfully submit this report.

GEORGE F. SNOW,

Superintendent.
