Safe Guarding of Public Records

Precautions towards the guarding of public records of the town were taken during the past year, upon the orders of the State Commissioner of Public Records, Mr. Henry E. Woods, who, while on a tour of inspection to this part of the state, noted existing conditions in Chelmsford that did not conform with State law relative to the safeguarding and protection of Public records; having condemned the safes at the Selectmen's room, Town Clerk's residence, Town Treasurer's residence, and ordered a new door for the vault at the Town Hall, also the inside of same to be equipped with non-combustible shelves and fittings. Upon request of the Board of Selectmen Commissioner Wood allowed this to be deferred until after the Annual Town Meeting, so that an appropriation might be made for the purpose. But regardless of what action is taken, the vault and safes must be renewed and equipped as stated above, or the town officials are liable to a penalty under the statutes of the commonwealth.

Report of Inspector of Meats and Provisions

Gentlemen of the Board of Health :

I herewith submit my annual report as Inspector of Meats and Provisions for the year ending February 1, 1913. The following meat producing animals have been slaughtered by the licensed butchers and farmers through out the town and inspected according to the rules and regulations of the State Board of Health.

Calves.....	1228	44
Hogs.....	1349	17
Sheep.....	19	1
Goats	1

I have also condemned about 1500 pounds of meat in small pieces for various reasons. All animals found infected with a contagious disease have been reported to the proper State authorities after tracing the animals back to the barn they came from as required.

A. C. PERHAM,
Inspector.

Chelmsford, Feb. 1, 1913.

Report of the Supt. of Moth Work

The work of this department in the fall was in cutting and burning the brush in several parts of the town where there were heavy Gypsy colonies. This work was done on the Dalton Road, Dunstable Road, Adams and Sheldon Sts., River-neck Road, Woodbine St. and Keats St.

As the State is doing very little of this kind of work I would suggest that the town appropriate a small amount of money for this special work and a by-law passed that places once cleaned, the property owner adjoining such places should be made to cut it over at least once a year. This would be not only for his benefit but for the betterment of the town at large. The government having ceased operating here the roads have been thrown back on this department, and not having but four men it has been rather slow work. The general idea is to spray, which in woodland districts, can be done with less expense. The power sprayer was run through the season without a single mishap and done excellent work. There were instances, however, where if more time could have been given that a smaller outfit would be more desirable. The State inspector makes his visit once a week and keeps in close touch with the work and anyone having complaints or suggestions to make they would be gladly received and looked after at once.

Yours respectfully,

MINOT A. BEAN.

Superintendent.

Report of Tree Warden

The work of this department has been confined to the planting of shade trees in the different villages, spraying for the elm-leaf beetle, removal of two large trees at the North village which were killed by gas, also the pruning and cementing of cavities of several trees. Many of the elms will have to be sprayed twice this spring, especially those at the North Village as the beetle had a strong hold there last year. I would suggest that the amount of money appropriated should be used this year in taking care of the old trees instead of planting new ones with the exceptions of filling in where a few have died. All complaints and suggestions of any kind would be gladly received.

Yours respectfully,

MINOT A. BEAN,

Tree Warden.

Report of the Forest Warden

Gentlemen of the Board of Selectmen :

There has been a great reduction in the cost of fighting forest fires during the past year largely through the efforts of the fire observer on Robbins Hill: the expense for the past year having been 60 per cent. less than the previous year.

Thirty-six forest fires have been extinguished, also we have rendered what help we could at about a dozen building and chimney fires where in most cases the deputy wardens were the only ones present with fire fighting apparatus. It would seem to be advisable for the town to purchase some fire extinguishers to be placed in the smaller villages in the town with a view to protecting buildings, for practically the only protection these villages now have is the equipment of the deputy forest wardens which is located with a view to protecting forest areas rather than buildings.

The eleven deputy wardens scattered through out are becoming more familiar with their work and I wish to thank them as well as the other town's people for their hearty cooperation during the past year.

About 300 permits were issued between March 1 and December 1 which is the time when permits are required for setting fires in the open air. All fires have been reported to the State Forester upon the blank provided for the purpose.

Following is a list of the forest fires.

A. C. PERHAM,

Forest Warden.

Report of Cemetery Commissioners

1912 - 1913

To the voters of Cheimsford :

The Cemetery Commissioners present to you their annual report.

Very little new work has been done in the cemeteries during the past year owing to the small amount of money appropriated at the last annual meeting.

J. Roland Parkhurst has had charge of the work in Forefathers and Pine Ridge Cemeteries, and as in years past has proved a faithful and enthusiastic worker.

The time is soon coming when the hedge on the Littleton street side of Forefathers Cemetery will need to be replaced as it is gradually dying out. Most of the walks and drives in the new section need graveling.

It is the wish of the Commissioners that more interest be taken by the lot owners in Pine Ridge Cemetery. The drives and walks have been well cared for by the town but many adjacent lots have received but little or no attention.

James S. Wotton has had charge of the work in Riverside Cemetery. The main drive in the new section remains in an unfinished condition, but will be complete in the early spring.

The small lot of land on the easterly end of the old section has been stumped and an entrance will soon be made at this end and several new lots laid out.

A. F. Whidden has served in the capacity of superintendent of West Cemetery since the creation of the Board of Commissioners, and his work has always been done in a satisfactory manner. A few remaining lots have been put into saleable condition and now work on the new part must commence. Lot owners are much inconvenienced in this cemetery because of lack of water, the supply is very uncertain.

Charles O. Robbins was appointed superintendent of Hart Pond Cemetery in 1909 and since that time has made great changes in the appearance of this cemetery, and it was with regret that the Commissioners were recently obliged to accept his resignation.

Many lot owners in this cemetery have done much in the care of their individual lots, these improvements, with well kept avenues and paths have made this cemetery one of the most attractive in the town.

Alfred S. Simpson has been chosen superintendent to succeed Mr. Robbins. We now have 66 trust funds, 9 have been added the past year.

CHARLES A. HOLT,
WILLIAM H. HALL.

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

BENJAMIN E. MARTIN

Report of the School Committee

1912 1913

To the Citizens of Chelmsford :

The report of your School Committee, together with that of Superintendent of Schools for the fiscal year 1912-1913, is submitted herewith.

Under the able direction of Superintendent Benj. E. Martin, teachers and pupils have completed a year of hard work, of the results of which you are the judges.

Your children, citizens in the making, deserve, and should receive the best that we can give them. Upon their shoulders must eventually fall the burdens which you now bear, and from among them must come the men and women who will perpetuate the institutions of this land. Prudence, therefore, if no other reason, demands that these children be taught first of all in the home, respect for the laws, for constituted authority and for the rights of others; and in the public schools such fundamental subjects as will enable them to read understandingly, observe correctly, express themselves intelligently, calculate accurately, and reason logically.

We believe that reading, writing and arithmetic are the fundamental subjects upon which we must erect our educational structure, if we are to help you make of your children useful and efficient citizens. We believe that other, and to our minds lesser important subjects may be taught, but they should never be allowed to interfere with thorough instruction in these essentials.

We have endeavored with the aid of the Superintendent, to develop your schools along these lines. We believe that they are as good in many respects as most public schools, and better than many. There is plenty of room for improvement, however, as you will see by a further reading of this report, and of that of the Superintendent of Schools.

TEACHERS

We have an excellent corps of teachers, well educated, well trained, hard working, conscientious and enthusiastic, anxious to do all in their power to put your schools on a high plane and keep them there, and it is to be regretted that you do not visit your schools more frequently, so that you might become acquainted with the principals and teachers who have charge of your children.

COURSE OF STUDY

After mature consideration and upon the advice of the Superintendent, we have decided upon the following changes, which we think will materially increase the efficiency of your schools.

1st. We recommend the establishing of an Industrial course, and have had an article inserted in the Town Warrant, to provide the necessary money.

2d. We recommend adding two weeks to the school year of grades one to eight inclusive, thus making the school year, for all pupils in your schools, forty weeks, and have included in our estimate for "Teaching," a sum of money necessary to carry this into effect.

3d. We have decided to abolish the present ninth grade and to transfer pupils to the High School upon completion of the eighth grade.

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

As expressed in a former report, it is our intention to spend each year an amount of money sufficient to keep your buildings in good condition, and the grounds presentable.

Last year we painted several of the buildings, made minor repairs on others, and installed drinking fountains at the Centre school. During the coming year it will be necessary to make extensive repairs at the Centre School and the usual repair and renovation of the other buildings.

We recommend an appropriation to continue the grading at Princeton-st. buildings, and have had inserted in the Town Warrant an article to that effect.

It will not be possible to postpone for a great while longer the erection of a new building at the Centre. The crowded condition there has been called to your attention several times, and in order that something definite may be accomplished, we will introduce a motion at the annual meeting, asking for the appointment of a committee to act with the school committee, to consider a new building and a site therefor and report, with recommendations thereon, not later than the annual town meeting of 1914.

In conclusion :—We urge you fathers and mothers to keep your children in school as long as you can, and, if possible, let them go through High School. We realize that to do this may mean three or four years more of hard work and self-denial; but the boy will be a better man and the girl a better woman mentally and physically for having had at the most critical periods of their lives, an opportunity for study and development in congenial surroundings. From a purely selfish point of view it is a paying proposition, and your boy will have a much greater earning capacity after going through High School than he would have had if he left school at fourteen. We request that you read carefully this report as well as that of the Superintendent of Schools, and we invite criticisms, or suggestions, or both.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE OF CHELMSFORD,

Gentlemen :

I have the honor to submit to you my report for the year ending Feb. 28th, 1913. This is the 39th report in the series. In this, my third report, I consider it not amiss to bring to your attention some of the things that have been done during my administration, and to discuss briefly the present status of the school situation.

On beginning my duties here I found, as in the case in many school systems, that some of the subjects had not progressed to the point of advancement in the school curriculum that I consider desirable. Notably among the subjects were arithmetic, geography and language. I do not consider this the fault of any person, or persons, but due to the different policies of changing administrations. Too frequent changes are usually not conducive to the greatest advancement of educational projects. They are, however, better than a fixed and unchangeable policy. I found little of the new spirit of education in the school system. These two defects, for I consider them such, I have endeavored to correct.

By the introduction of a consistent number system in the lower grades and the elimination of useless processes in advanced work, I believe that arithmetic has been brought much more nearly to a proper standard. There is still some weakness in the work of the upper grades but I consider that the work is being done better in eight grades than in nine previously.

The weakness in language and in geography I have attempted to correct by removing some of the formalities, previously existent, in these subjects, and by attempting to make them more vital. I believe that the work in these subjects is being done quite satisfactorily at present in eight grades.

In other subjects there is certainly no need of ninth grade work. In fact I consider the schools are on a satisfactory eight grade basis, with the exception, possibly, of the slight weakness in arithmetic referred to above.

I believe that the time has arrived for the discontinuance of the ninth grade as a part of the elementary school system, and it certainly has no place between the elementary schools and the high school. I advise that the ninth grade be discontinued.

I have made a beginning in the removal of the second defect alluded to above, namely, the lack of a new spirit of education in the school system, by the introduction of industrial training in the North High School and by some slight beginnings in the grades. There is still much need of work in the upper grades that will bring the work into closer contact with the life of the community and of the home. I do not believe it would be wise to offer but very little work of any kind different from the work we are now offering in the first six grades. The work in these grades is distinctly fundamental and necessary as it now stands and, with the exception of making it a little more vital, should not be changed at present.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SITUATION

Last year in my report I discussed, at some length, the problem of our high schools. In that report I outlined what I considered to be the best solution of the problem, namely, the change of the North High School into a school of an industrial nature, the transportation of pupils desiring an industrial course to that school, and of those desiring academic training to the Centre. Having watched the development of the industrial work under Mr. Trubey's direction, since last September, I am more firmly convinced than ever that the solution was the best one. Moreover, I believe that it can be done with our present high school facilities. It seems likely that numbers would be equalized fairly by the exchange of the academic and industrial pupils. Those who wish a business or commercial training, unless the number should be too large, also could go to the North School. It might be advisable to maintain of commercial department in both schools, in such case the department in each school should be strengthened so as to make it worthy of the name. A special teacher would be desirable and one could take charge of the work, easily, in the two schools.

In passing I wish to express my opinion as to what an industrial school, such as I propose at North, should be and what it should not be. Its work should be correlated with the life of the community. There should be harmony between the school and its environment. As fast as it becomes possible, with our limited teaching force and equipment the fundamental elements necessary to successful entry into domestic life, commercial life, and industrial life generally, should be furnished. Along with this preparation for the work-a-day life a reasonable amount of cultural education should be given. We should fit the pupils to become good citizens as well as good artisans. A thorough grounding in English, in the elements of science, in history and civics, with the necessary mathematics and drawing for the ordinary work of an industrial course, constitute the fundamentals of a liberal education. There is room for these in the course and they can be so closely correlated with the industrial side of the work that they become a part of it while serving also as cultural studies. We want a school of distinctly high school grade, not a trade school, nor what amounts to the same thing, an industrial school minus the academic training. Many of our industrial schools occupy this latter position today. The Fitchburg High School, of this State, has found the most satisfactory solution of the problem in its co-operative industrial or part time course, whereby the pupils spend one week in school and the next week in the shops. There are few, if any, pupils who have not the ability to perform the work necessary for the successful completion of such a course. If there should be any such they should be provided for in a special course. The part time course gives the opportunity to the pupil, often needed, of earning funds to contribute towards his support. Whether such an apprenticeship system could be carried out here, in co-operation with our local industries and those of Lowell, I am unable to state.

The commercial course ought to furnish competent instruction in shorthand, typewriting, and penmanship, at least, in addition to what we are now offering. Our present business course amounts to very little.

The agricultural part of our town deserves some attention. Not a few of our boys finally find their way back to the farm and put in their life work there. To these pupils we are offering nothing definite by way of assistance in their life work. We give them the fundamentals of their education in the grades and offer to them some cultural training in the high school. Many of them seeing no practical use in education drop out of school earlier than is best for them. The parents are able in many cases to give some practical training, but the ever busy farmer finds too little time to dig down deep into the difficulties of the problem, and having but little scientific training he solves the problem but superficially. The result is that the struggle goes on under a handicap. Under a recent law an agricultural department may be established in connection with a town high school, through the co-operation of the State Board of Education officials. A competent instructor must be engaged, two-thirds of whose salary shall come from the state and one-third from the town. This is the principal item of expense. Under this arrangement the pupils work out the problem practically, on the farm, under the direction and supervision of the instructor during the spring, summer and fall, the instructor taking his vacation during the winter. This gives opportunity for the pupil to work remuneratively on the farm and also gives time for academic work, during the winter, in addition to that which he takes during other parts of the year. I believe, from investigations that I have made, that there is a demand for such a department in connection with the Centre High School. While it may not be possible to establish this department this spring I recommend that immediate steps be taken preliminary to the introduction of such study.

There ought to be a home arts department, at both the Centre School and at the North School. Such a department should include a course in cookery and in the care of the home. Girls of the upper grades and high school, only, should be admitted to this course, except that it might be advisable to admit any girl over twelve years of age. The cost of such a department at the Centre would be very slight. I believe that the kitchen and its furnishings at the Town Hall could be secured and other necessary equipment could be purchased at small cost. The cost of the instructor would be nominal as a senior from the Framingham Normal School can be secured for expenses only.

At the North School somewhat similar conditions exist. The cost of the instructor however might be greater.

An industrial school should include such a department in order that the girls may receive such instruction in practical subjects. It does not seem to me to be wise nor just to confine this to one school as practically all the girls of the grades mentioned should receive this instruction.

Our high school instructors, in each schools, are teaching too many classes and covering too many different subjects to achieve the best results and their work is decidedly burdensome. It is not wise economy to continue this state of affairs.

The ninth grade is not necessary for preparation for the high school. It is not serving any useful purpose. Moreover I am convinced that it is detrimental to the best interests of all concerned. Pupils realize that it has no necessary place in the course of study and they lose interest during this period of marking time. With the ninth grade abolished our present high school force would be relieved of so much teaching and could easily and successfully conduct the work of the high school alone. If by chance any pupils should need additional drill in grammar school subjects it would be much wiser and more economical, as well as conserving the interest of the pupils to a far greater degree, to have them receive special coaching, in such subjects, by the high school teachers.

It would also be wise to make some changes in the high school course of study to meet this change as well as to modernize and adapt the course of study to present day needs.

I wish to urge upon your attention, once more, the need of more room at the Centre School. The high school and ninth grade have no adequate quarters. It is necessary to use, for a recitation room and for laboratory purposes, a room that is hardly suitable for either purpose. It is decidedly unfit for a chemical laboratory, since it has no ventilation, except through the window and door, and no provision for the escape of gases, as well as no water supply. The two rooms next below ninth grade have several more pupils than they should accommodate. It is my sincere conviction that steps should be taken at once leading toward the erection of a building of four rooms or more in the vicinity of the Centre. Such a building would furnish suitable quarters for the high school, as at present conducted, and would offer opportunity for the introduction of new departments. It would also relieve congestion which is bound to occur in the grades, in the near future. The Centre and the Westlands district are growing quite rapidly and our school population is certain to increase.

The results of the sight and hearing tests show that a still greater number of our pupils than last year, are defective in either sight or hearing. Many of the children have had this trouble attended to. There are still quite a number, however, who should have received attention who have had nothing done for them. It is the duty of the town to attend to such matters if the parents are unable to do so. Had we a school nurse, as I have recommended before, many of these troubles would be relieved, much to the benefit of the child. Many other troubles would also be avoided and the general health and well being of the pupils would be conserved.

SCHOOL SAVINGS

The Central Savings Bank, of Lowell, has furnished the following data, relative to the school savings of the pupils. It will be observed from these figures that the total net deposits for the twelve months ending Dec. 31, 1912, amounted to $1,266.90. This added to the balance of Dec. 31, 1911, gives a total to the credit of Chelmsford pupils Jan. 1, 1913, of $2,518.14. All of which has been collected at the schools by the bank officials.

TEXTBOOK CHANGES

At the beginning of the present school year the old English text books in the grades were discarded and the Emerson and Benders series of English books were adopted. Samples of various English books had been placed in the teachers' hands and this series was the choice of a large number of teachers. It was also my choice and has proven to be a very satisfactory series.

Our teachers have been taking, during this year, lessons in the Palmer system of penmanship at the Lowell Normal School, and have been applying the results of their instruction to the teaching of writing in their respective class rooms. While we have not yet purchased any of the Palmer books I believe the time has arrived for us to discard the old ones and adopt the Palmer books. School penmanship has usually been taught distinct from business penmanship and the results have not been complimentary to our work. I know of no reason why school children should not be taught business methods of penmanship.

TEACHERS

Since my last report the following changes in the teaching force have occurred. At the close of the school year in June, Mr. Holt resigned the principalship of the North High School to accept a much better position, of a similar nature, at Whitinsville, Mass. His place was taken by Mr. Arthur W. Trubey, a resident of the town. Mr. Trubey has had much training and experience in industrial school work and was engaged, particularly, to strengthen this department. Results have justified his selection.

At the Centre School Mr. Holbrook, who was acting as substitute during the latter part of the last school year, was engaged as principal for the present year. Miss Gardner's place, at the Centre School, was taken by Miss Helen J. Coffin of Boston, who had had one year of successful experience. Miss Ruth Butters has been out on leave of absence since the close of the fall term. Miss Gertrude H. Rideout of Concord, Mass., who had had one year of successful experience, is ably filling her position.

Miss Ivy E. Kew, of the Golden Cove School, resigned at the close of the last school year and her place was filled by the transfer of Miss Regina B. Frappier from the South Row School. Miss Frappier's place was taken by Miss Esther Reid of West Chelmsford, a graduate of the Lowell Normal School last year.

Our two supervisors, Miss Mary B. Raynes, supervisor of music, and Miss Bertha G. Bartlett, supervisor of drawing, resigned at the close of the year. Their places were filled respectively by Miss M. Marion Adams of this town, and by Miss Miriam C. Fearing of South Weymouth, Mass. Miss Adams, since her graduation from Lowell Normal School, has been teaching in Dracut; she has specialized in music, having taken courses in New York University Summer School. Miss Fearing graduated from the Massachusetts Normal Art School in 1911 and had taught drawing during the year since her graduation in the schools of Millis, Mass.

There have been no other changes in the teaching force.

CONCLUSION

In concluding, I wish to call your attention to the special reports that follow. They are worthy of your careful consideration and show commendable interest in the work.

Our teachers, as a whole, show sympathetic interest in the work and in the pupils and evince a willingness and desire to improve themselves professionally. They constitute a progressive teaching force.

Again, I wish to express my satisfaction for the pleasant relations I have had with you as a committee and to thank you for the kindness and courtesy which you have shown me. One can do his best work only under such conditions.

Respectfully submitted,

BENJ. E. MARTIN.

SPECIAL REPORTS

Chelmsford Centre High School

MR. BENJAMIN E. MARTIN,

Superintendent of Schools.

Dear Sir :

I herewith respectfully submit a brief report of the Chelmsford Centre High School for the year ending March, 1913.

From the beginning of the year, your principal, with the hearty co-operation of assistants, has undertaken to put in force the entire course of study as outlined for our guidance. Our constant aim has been to do nothing but thorough, earnest work and to be satisfied with nothing less than the best efforts on the part of pupils.

In some instances, it has appeared to your principal that the required work has borne too heavily upon pupils while the schedule of recitations has been too great for our corps of teachers. I would, therefore, respectfully suggest some modification of the courses of study as now constituted and, if feasible, the employment of a regular teacher for the ninth grade, thereby allowing the two assistants to devote their entire time to the work of the high school.

On the whole, the spirit with which our pupils have attacked their work has left little ground for complaint and we feel confident that a goodly amount of solid results has been attained. Real gain in mental power rather than slavish adherence to text-book has been our aim. We have also constantly sought to give our pupils a wide range of general information upon every day topics pertaining to social and political life. Rhetoricals, music, drawing, sewing, elementary science, and various other devices have served to kindle enthusiasm and widen the mental horizon of our pupils.

At the close of the fall term, Miss Ruth G. Butters felt compelled by ill health to ask for leave of absence for the winter term. Her place has been most acceptably filled by Miss Gertrude H. Rideout a graduate from Radcliff.

From daily contact with the teachers of the grades, I am convinced, that for thorough conscientious work it would be difficult to find a better corps.

Thanking committee, superintendent and teachers for kindly spirit of co-operation

I remain, yours respectfully,

C. A. HOLBROOK,

Prin. Chelmsford Centre.

North High School

MR. BENJAMIN E. MARTIN,

Superintendent of Schools, Chelmsford, Mass.

Dear Sir:

As my duties as principal of the North High School began in the fall, my report will be for the time from September to the close of the school year, Feb. 28, 1913.

The problem confronting any High School is a problem of adjustment. A town is entitled to that kind of a High School which the community itself needs. The pupils who attend a High School should find a course of study closely related to the life of the community, and revealing to them the possibilities for service in the world's work.

ADJUSTMENT

The abolishment of the Ninth Grade.

The introduction of Natural Science into the first year of the High School. The teaching of Social Science.

The introduction of a Commercial Course, which shall include Typewriting and Shorthand.

The broadening out of the industrial work so as to give each boy and girl real experience drawn from many different fields of employment.

WHAT HAS BEEN ACCOMPLISHED

We have not centred our efforts on one or two so called bright pupils. We have tried to arouse the interests, to awaken the mentality, to quicken the senses of all.

As a result, the attendance has been higher than it has been for years. The school spirit has been all one could ask for, and the amount of work accomplished unusual.

INDUSTRIAL WORK

The boys have made work benches for the shop, drawing tables and book cases for the school room, and have done considerable repairing about the school building.

The girls have had opportunity to work out a series of projects, working in wood, cardboard, and brass. They have done some weaving on hand looms, and considerable work in applied design.

OPPORTUNITIES

Dr. Snedden, State Commissioner of Education, says: "The High School today is the arena in which our greatest educational problems should be worked out."

There is no better place to work out some of these problems than right here in the North Village. We have a class of pupils well behaved, enthusiastic, eager to work in and out of school time, quick to respond to any suggestion, and exhibiting a degree of intelligence which speaks well for the future success of the school.

Our village is growing. It is the logical and strategic position for that kind of a High School which shall offer a well planned course of study adjusted to meet the actual needs of the majority of boys and girls who would go to school if the opportunity appealed to them.

IN CONCLUSION

I appreciate the help and encouragement given by public-spirited citizens, the kindly interest of many friends, and the loyalty and co-operation of the teachers.

I thank you and the School Committee for your confidence and support.

Respectfully submitted,

ARTHUR W. TRUBEY,

Principal.

Report of Supervisor of Music

MR. BENJAMIN E. MARTIN,

Superintendent of Schools, Chelmsford, Mass.

Dear Sir :

I take pleasure in submitting to you my first report as Supervisor of Music in the Chelmsford schools.

Music plays an important part in the school curriculum. It gives many children an opportunity of learning something of the art who would never learn about it otherwise. It creates a desire for the good, the true and the beautiful, and arouses the child's aesthetic nature. It brings joy and cheerfulness to the schoolroom.

My aim, first of all, is to have the pupils interested. then teach thoroughly the fundamentals of music and have them able to sing music at sight with good tone and render it understandingly.

In the first grade we unite voices, match tones, teach the scale by means of scale songs and read simple exercises from the staff. Much time is given in this grade to rote songs. These songs are also taken in grades two, three and four. Monotones are found in the low grades, especially in the first. These have individual attention.

Scale relationship is established in grade two. The class reads in all the common meters from the Primer. A special study is made of certain tones of the scale. In grade three we introduce chromatics and have new work in rhythm—the evenly divided beat. Grade four has more advanced work in chromatics and rhythm. Signature work is started in this grade. Two part singing is taken in the third or fourth grade. In grade five much time is spent on chromatics. Here also two minor scales are studied, a new rhythm introduced and some three part work taken. Grade six learns a new form of the minor. In this grade and from this grade on, the pupils have an advanced study of the previous work. Sight singing and oral and written dictation are given in almost every grade.

Chorus work is taken once a week in both High Schools.

I wish to thank the Superintendent and the teachers for the interest they have extended to me and to my work.

Respectfully submitted,

M. MARION ADAMS,
Supervisor of Music.

Report of Supervisor of Manual Arts

Lowell, Massachusetts, February 24, 1913

MR. BENJAMIN E. MARTIN,

Superintendent of Schools,

Chelmsford, Massachusetts.

Dear Sir:

As Supervisor of Manual Arts, I submit the following report for the school year 1912-1913.

The course this year is intended not only to develop the children's capacity for enjoying beautiful things but to be of practical value to them. For that reason it includes much constructive work, giving an opportunity for actual making of useful articles. In the primary grades this takes the form of paper cutting and folding, and simple weaving of twine and raffia; in the grammar grades, elementary book binding. Sewing is being taught to the girls of the High School and of the Ninth Grade.

The drawing of objects and natural forms has its use in giving the individual an ability to make drawings quickly and easily—an ability which is valuable in any occupation. It is with this in view that drawing has been made a required subject in the first year of High School as well as in the lower grades. In the Centre High, object and nature drawing with a little of construction and design, make up the year's work. In the Princeton High the drawing class is being used, by the study of design, printing, and object drawing, to supplement the constructive work and mechanical drawing taught in its other classes. A special class for advanced pupils has been studying object drawing.

To train pupils in the effective working together of hand and mind for the making of objects, in the use of drawing as a means of accurate expression, and in the appreciation of the beautiful through the lessons in design and picture study, is the aim of the whole course.

I wish to thank the superintendent for his helpful interest and the teachers for their efficient co-operation.

Respectfully submitted,

MIRIAM C. FEARING.

Annual Report

of the

Trustees of the Adams Library and the

North Chelmsford Library Corporation

of the

TOWN OF CHELMSFORD

for the

Year Ending February 28th, 1913

Report of the Trustees of the Adams Library

The Trustees of the Adams Library beg leave to report that the Board met for organization in the Library on March 30, 1912, at 2.30 P. M. and chose the following officers for the year :

CHAIRMAN	-	-	MR. ALBERT H. DAVIS
SECRETARY	-	-	MR. EDWIN R. CLARK
TREASURER	-	-	REV. WILSON WATERS
LIBRARIAN	-	-	MRS. E. R. CLARK

The usual committees were chosen to carry on the work of the Library, which has progressed in a most satisfactory manner. The Library has increased in general effectiveness, and is now starting upon what seems to be an enlarged field of usefulness. This is due in great measure to the larger appropriation for its support made by the town in the past two years, which has allowed it to begin to be what the Library should be, as an element of educational influence. One evidence of this is the fact that the circulation has jumped from a little over 12,000 to 15,348, more than 25 per cent. Perhaps no stronger argument could be advanced to prove the wisdom of generously providing for the purchase of good books. The Town's money could hardly be spent to better advantage, even on selfish consideration, than in building up a public library of exceptional excellence. In these days, there can be no doubt that the public library stands among the first of "modern improvements" demanded by the best class of new residents. The community which desires an intelligent and otherwise desirable influx of people must provide ample means of intellectual improvement, as well as water-works, electric lighting and good schools.

During the past year there has been a greater demand for standard fiction, and special care has been taken to meet the increasing use of the Library by the schools in providing such books as are needed in their work by teachers and pupils. Valuable books on various subjects have been purchased; also the Cambridge edition of Longfellow, Whittier and Browning, and complete editions of some of the minor poets. A high standard has been maintained in all the books added this year, and taken together they cover a wide field in literature.

The report of the Treasurer is herewith submitted.

The circulation for the year has been 15,348, with the per cent. in the various classes as follows; Fiction, 72.3; General, 11.4; History, 2.7; Travel and description, 3; Literature, 2.2; Natural Science, 1.3; Biography, 1.5; Fine Arts, .7; Useful Arts, 1.5; Religion and Philosophy, 1.5; Education, 1.9.

The Library has been open 197 sessions.

The attendance in the reading room averages about 15.

Report of the Directors of the North Chelmsford Library Corporation

The Board of Directors of the North Chelmsford Library Corporation have the honor to submit to the voters and tax payers of Chelmsford, the following as their report of the doings of the above Library for the year just closed.

At the last yearly meeting of the Board of Directors held at the Library rooms, the matter of enlarging the building was taken up,—in order that the large increasing business which has been yearly growing until it was practically impossible to properly transact the business in a safe and sane way; it was decided to appoint a committee of three from the membership of the Library to act in relation to the matter. The following gentlemen were appointed: Henry T. Ripley, Stewart Mackay, Arthur Wheeler, Royal S. Ripley, Exofficio, with full power to make such additions as would meet the needed requirements for some years to come.

That your committee did themselves honor in this matter, goes without saying. An addition of about fifteen feet in length and the full width of the building was added, making in this addition shelf room for a number of thousand books and the safe placing of many books of science and history, which formly had been scattered over the shelves, leaving the much needed space for books in daily use. A large heating boiler and a proper number of heating radiators placed throughout the building gives sufficient heat, for which for many years we have suffered, new painting and walls decorated were added; giving this Library a homelike appearance.

It will perhaps greatly please all tax payers to learn that this alteration and great expense incurred has not and will not cost them a penny: for a liberal and generous public here in North Chelmsford gladly subscribed the amount for this purpose, some giving fifty dollars and others twenty, ten and five as their means allowed. The total cost being over seven hundred dollars.

There is much more to do in outside painting and grading around all sides of the grounds to make this Library what it should be, but this will come later without extra cost to the tax payers.

Now by reason of the great and ever increasing membership and consequently increased number of books put out, naturally increases the yearly expense. The six hundred dollars allowed in the annual appropriation each year for the running expenses is not enough to properly care for the work as conditions and demands of the Library are at the present time. So an addition of two hundred dollars added to the annual appropriation of six hundred dollars which has been allowed for some years making a total required of eight hundred dollars which sum is absolutely needed to carry on the work. For it must be remembered that this Library is the only means by which hundreds of poor working girls and boys in our large mills and shops have, since they are deprived of the attendance of our public schools to receive some education from our well stocked store of books.

The following is the report of the work done this year:

The Library has been opened 151 sessions during the year.

There are 83 new borrowers making 557 borrowers in all. The circulation is 11,654, 191 new books has been added during the year. There have been three books given by the Government, two books by Henry T. Ripley, three unbound volumes of McClures Magazine by Mrs. Ellen Sargent, two unbound volumes of Munsey Magazine by Mr. Frank Butterfield. These magazines have been bound at the expense of the Library.

There are now 6,489 books available on the shelves.

94 books have been sent to the bindry.

Your Directors cannot close this report without expressing their great indebtedness and thanks to this special committee for their untiring effort and the good work they done in behalf of the Library interests, giving their time and money without stint. They also wish to thank Mr. James Kiberd for gift of time and stock in decorating the interior of Library, and the North Chelmsford Water Commissioners for their kindness in installing without charge a complete system of water supply from the street pipe for boiler and all other purposes needed. Neither do they forget how much they owe our Librarian, Miss Anna C. Mackay, for the care and patience she gives in caring for her responsible duties, always pleasant, kind and accommodating and faithful caring for all under her charge. We feel the Library is fortunate in having one in whom the utmost confidence is placed and in whose hands the best interests of the Library is assured.

Respectfully yours,

ROYAL S. RIPLEY,
MRS. H. ELLEN SARGENT,
MRS. ARTHUR H. SHELDON.
