ARCHITECTURAL DESCRIPTION:

Describe architectural features. Evaluate the characteristics of this building in terms of other buildings within the community.

The 2.5-story building has walls clad in wood siding with wood trim and a front gable asphalt-shingle roof. Two brick, internal chimneys are located on the east slope of the roof. A one-story brick storefront surrounds the north and west walls and a one-story, concrete block addition is at the rear. The original portion of the building has wood, six-over-six, double-hung windows with exterior storm windows visible on the second and half stories. The storefront has large plate glass windows with wood trim. An abbreviated pent roof is atop the storefront. Signage is in the center of roof advertising the Taaza Market, which is currently vacant.

The resource is an altered example of a mid-twentieth century mixed-use building that retains historic integrity of location, setting, and feeling.

HISTORICAL NARRATIVE

Discuss the history of the building. Explain its associations with local (or state) history. Include uses of the building, and the role(s) the owners/occupants played within the community.

The building is not shown on the 1907 Sanborn map, but is visible on a 1938 historical aerial map of the area. A historical photograph of the area shows the preparation of the site that would include this building. The exact date of the photograph is unknown; however, the photographer, Simon Towle, died in 1910, so construction of the building appears to date prior to 1910.

Deed research traced the ownership history of the property to 1891 when Clara Adams sold it to James and Ellen Wooten. The Wootens owned the property through 1921. James Wooten also owned several other properties and businesses in Vinal Square. In 1921 James Wooten and his children sold the property to Anna and Sigmund Rostler. According to his draft registration card, Sigmund Eli Rostler w(1892-1972) as born in Storoznitz, Bukovina, Austria. He emigrated to the US with his parents and brother Benjamin ca. 1895. By 1910 the family added two daughters and were living in Lowell. By 1922 Sigmund and his wife Anna B.(1898-1980) were living in Lowell, but operating a grocery store in North Chelmsford. The 1925 city directory lists Rostler's Market at the corner of Groton Road in North Chelmsford. The Rostlers remained in Lowell, but retained the North Chelmsford property until 1944. By 1949 the Princeton Market was in operation at this address by John Stefan. The Princeton Market owned the property until 1973. The property was sold several additional times since 1973. In January 2016 the Board of Selectmen granted a liquor license for the property to house the Craft Beer House and Premium Liquors store. At the date of survey, the store was not yet open for business.
